

FOREARM, THIGH
FOUND IN RIVER

Furnish Authorities of That City Perplex-
ing Mystery

Finding of the left forearm and the thigh section of the leg of a man in Rock river at the hydro-electric plant of the Illinois Northern Utilities Co. in Sterling late Friday afternoon has given Sterling police officials their most perplexing mystery in years; the only likely clue to identification being a worn 18 karat gold ring on the inside of which is an indistinct initial, which could be "G" or "J". The skin had sloughed off the fingers to such an extent that it is believed efforts at fingerprinting would be futile.

Coroner Makes Inspection

The arm, which had been removed from the body at the shoulder, and the leg, from the hip to the knee, were examined by Dr. C. M. Frye, Whiteside county coroner, who said they had been in the water not more than three or four days. He said the arm and leg apparently had been sawed from the body. The leg section did not include the knee joint.

Police found a piece of a shirt tied to a brick in the river not far from where the two sections were discovered. The shirt apparently was not larger than size 14½, police said. Chief Bucher said he may have it examined by experts for laundry or other marks.

Operators employed at the hydro-electric plant discovered the two sections against a rack in the water at 3 p. m. They notified police and police officers and firemen immediately started to search for other parts of the body in the river. No other sections had been discovered at nightfall and the search was resumed this morning. Chief Bucher said it probably would be futile to drag the river as the sections might have floated a considerable distance before they were discovered.

Officials said it was possible the arm and leg could have been thrown into the river from a Northwestern railway train as it passed over the Nelson bridge. The appearance of the sections indicated they had been sawed from the body, however, and not severed in a train accident, officials declared.

One of the officials said the sections had been removed with the skill of a surgeon or a butcher.

One Victim of Torso Murderer
Two-Time Convict

Cleveland, May 11—(AP)—Police said today one of three "torso murder" victims, whose bodies were found last week in box cars at Pittsburgh, had been identified as a Wisconsin ex-convict.

The Cleveland News reported that the victim, on whose chest had been carved or seared the word "nazi" in five-inch letters, was named from finger-prints as James David Nicholson, 29, sentenced in 1936 to one to three years in Wisconsin penitentiary for burglary. Identification was made by L. A. Hollingsworth of the Ohio Bureau of Identification.

Finding of the three bodies brought to 24 the number of unexplained butchery-deaths in Ohio and western Pennsylvania in the past 10 years. Detective Peter Merylo of Cleveland said "the whole thing looks" like the work of one surgically-skilled man.

HAD PRISON RECORD

Milwaukee, May 11—(AP)—James D. Nicholson, identified by fingerprints as one of the "torso murder" victims found at Pittsburgh last week, was sentenced to the Wisconsin state prison May 2, 1936, for a Milwaukee burglary. He was paroled May 19, 1938, and discharged from parole the following Nov. 4. At the time of his arrest he told the police that he lived in Chicago. His prison record showed that he was sentenced in 1929 to the Illinois state reformatory for burglary at Waukegan, Ill.

Policeman Appeals to Horner for Clemency

Springfield, Ill., May 11—(AP)—Victor Wnukowski, 24, sentenced to die in the electric chair May 17 for the slaying of a Chicago policeman, appealed to Governor Horner for executive clemency today and a hearing was set for May 13 before the state Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Wnukowski applied for clemency after his insanity plea was rejected by a Cook county Criminal court. Two others convicted of aiding in the murder, Frank Michalowski, 25, and Henry Drewek, 22, also are scheduled to die on May 17.

Our Mothers

When God began creating,
And Time had first begun,
He hung the silvery moon on high
Pinned stars up, one by one,
He filled the world with sunlight,
And gave each bird a song,
He made the glorious mountain heights
And brooks that sing along,
He called forth mighty oceans
And forget-me-nots to bloom,
He clothed the swaying treetops—
Even gave each bee a room.
When the Master Hand had finished
And this perfect beauty heeded,
He lingered long and pondered
For one thing more was needed.
He saw in all this grandeur
No sympathy or love,
No patient heart, no pleading lips
To send a prayer above,
He found no loving, gentle hands
To do kind deeds for others.
So, stirred to the depths of His Infinite Love
He gave to the world, OUR MOTHERS.

Aged Physician
Dies from Self-
Inflicted Wound

Dr. Luther Goodyear, 76-year-old Toledo, Ohio, physician, who Friday morning fired a 32 caliber bullet into his abdomen while dependent over ill health, passed away at the Katherine Shaw Bethel hospital about 1 o'clock this afternoon. The aged physician, who has been living with his sister, Miss Mary Goodyear, 816 Brinton avenue, walked from the house to the barn yesterday and fired a steel jacketed bullet from a 32 caliber automatic revolver into his abdomen.

A particle of clothing which caught in the mechanism of the weapon caused the revolver to jam when he tried to discharge it a second time, and he then walked to the home of another sister, Mrs. Milton Missman who resides next door, and informed her of his act. Little hope was entertained for his recovery when it was learned that the bullet had passed through the body. Dr. Goodyear was prominent in the Masonic bodies of Toledo where he lived for many years, prior to his retirement from practice and coming to Dixon to reside. During the World War he was a member of the medical staff of the American aviation corps in France. The body was removed to the Preston funeral home where an inquest will be conducted.

Private funeral services will be held at the Preston funeral home Monday.

Sees Father Kill
Self, Plunges to Death from Pole

Muncie, Ind., May 11—(AP)—With neighbors in pursuit, Alfred Miller, 23, climbed a power line pole to a high tension wire and succeeded in a second suicide attempt today an hour after his father had shot himself to death, Coroner Earl Parson reported.

The young man's body hurtled from the power line, his head striking a railroad track.

The coroner, arriving at the Miller farm to investigate the death of Otis Miller, 45, said he told neighbors to watch the son, who appeared extremely nervous. The son ran into a nearby woods and neighbors followed just as he was adjusting a noose around his neck after throwing a rope over a tree branch. The youth broke and ran to the railroad line.

Coroner Parson said the elder Miller had been dependent over the suicide of his wife three years ago.

Pope Pius Prays for Triumph of Countries
Invaded by Nazi Army

Vatican City, May 11—(AP)—Pope Pius XII today threw his moral force in support not only of Catholic Belgium but also the duchy of Luxembourg and Protestant Holland in messages to their rulers saying he was praying for their triumph.

Vatican officials disclosed the pope had anticipated an appeal for support from King Leopold one of the most devoutly Catholic of present-day sovereigns, by sending his message last night before receiving one from the king. Leopold's message arrived this morning.

The pontiff told King Leopold he was praying for the restoration of Belgium's "full liberty and independence."

The pope's message was made public a short time after he had received Myron C. Taylor, President Roosevelt's personal envoy to the Vatican in private audience.

Similar messages also were sent by the pope to Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and Grand Duchess Charlotte of Luxembourg.

"Practically Perfect"
Week-End Promised

Chicago, May 11—(AP)—Amid the war's black headlines the weather bureau offered this pleasant contrast today:

A "practically perfect" week-end throughout the north central states.

Forecaster Gordon Dunn said there would be no rain and temperatures in the 70s, from northern Wisconsin to southern Illinois and from the Great Lakes to Nebraska.

Premature Centralia Triplets Doing Well

Centralia, Ill., May 11—(AP)—Rushed to incubators in a clothes basket, triplets, born prematurely Monday to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Long at nearby Irvington, were reported "in fine condition" by hospital attendants today.

The two girls and a boy range in weight from 3 pounds 2 ounces to 3 pounds 13 ounces. Their mother, 33, also has a 4-year-old daughter.

ORIGIN OF TIMBER FIRE

Rolla, Mo., May 11—(AP)—Harold Heflin, 19, stood too close to a burning truck and his clothes caught fire. Excited, he ran into a nearby woods, starting a blaze there.

Three acres of timber burned—Heflin's only injury was a badly scorched hand.

OGLE PRISONER
DEATH IN CELL

Man Accused of Attempt to Wreck Train Cuts
Neck and Wrists

Sheriff James White of Ogle county announced in Oregon last evening that Howard Carenduff, 53, a former brakeman for the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific railroad, who was arrested Thursday for allegedly attempting to wreck a mainline Milwaukee train near Monroe Center, had made an attempt to take his own life in the Ogle county jail during Friday afternoon.

Sheriff White said Carenduff had gone to the upper cell block and slashed his neck and wrists with a small pen knife. Carenduff had concealed the knife in his shoe and it had escaped discovery when he was searched at the jail, the sheriff reported.

Other prisoners in the jail block heard Carenduff's moans and summoned members of the sheriff's staff. A physician was called and he took numerous stitches in the gashes about Carenduff's throat and wrists. If the knife had been much larger the suicide attempt undoubtedly would have succeeded, Sheriff White said. A guard was placed at Carenduff's cell during the night.

Discovered By Employee

State's Attorney S. Donald Crowell made announcement of Carenduff's arrest after a railroad signal maintainer had discovered the attempt to cause a train wreck when his railroad scooter was derailed Wednesday night. A heavy coupling pin had been wired to one of the line's main tracks.

Crowell reported that Carenduff, a bachelor residing in Monroe Center with an unmarried sister, had lost his job as a Milwaukee road brakeman in October, 1938.

Carenduff was arraigned Thursday before Justice of the Peace Chester A. Landers at Oregon on a charge of attempting to damage railroad property. He was held to the October grand jury under $5,000 bond.

According to Crowell, C. M. Penticuff, Milwaukee road signal maintainer, received word at his home at Kirkland Wednesday night that a block signal near Monroe Center was out of order.

Similar Pins Found

Upon investigating cause of his derailment, Penticuff discovered the coupling pin attached to the track, Crowell said. Penticuff notified authorities and Crowell. They questioned Carenduff and after several couplings similar to the one found on the track were discovered in his home, Carenduff confessed, Crowell said.

Besides the coupling pin, which Crowell described as about a foot long and two inches thick, a flange spike had been placed on the track apparently to lead the locomotive's pilot wheel onto the pin, Crowell said. The pin and spike were large enough to have derailed at least a locomotive and possibly an entire train, he added.

Charles G. Carlson, railroad detective, signed the complaint against Carenduff. Deputy Sheriff William Hungerford assisted the state's attorney and railroad detectives in the investigation.

1,000 Dutch Die in Fight to Recapture
Rotterdam Airbase

Defenders Claim To be Holding Nazis
Near Borders

London, May 11.—(AP)—Dutch shock troops fighting for their invaded homeland were reported officially today to have re-captured airdromes at The Hague (K5) and Rotterdam (J6) in bitter see-saw battles which saw The Hague change hands three times.

Dutch Foreign Minister Eelo N. Van Kleffens, who made the announcement in London, declared that no airdromes in the Netherlands which seized them lands remain in the hands of the yesterday.

He declared that the German forces on the left bank of the Nieuwe Maas river at Rotterdam had been crushed—but at a cost to the Dutch of more than 1,000 lives.

On other fronts, the Dutch and Belgians reported their troops were holding the German army a short distance from the frontier; the French said the first real German attack on the Maginot line in the Moselle region east of Luxembourg had been repulsed and the British air ministry said the Royal Air Force had destroyed at least 50 German planes and put many others out of action yesterday.

However, the Germans reported advances. DNB, official German news agency, reported one of the Belgian fortresses before Liege (E8) was in German hands and the Germans asserted they still held Dutch airdromes seized in the blitzkrieg yesterday, although they were being forced to fight for them.

New Rumanian Cabinet

In the uneasy Balkans, the Rumanian government of Premier Kheorghe Tatarescu resigned. King Carol commissioned Tatarescu to form a new national-union government, designed to increase Rumania's solidarity.

Germany carried the aerial transport warfare to Belgium, dropping fresh parachute troops from transports between Brussels and Louvain.

The Dutch attacked this morning at Rotterdam, determined to wrest from the Germans the nearby Waalhaven airfield, base of their forces of occupation in the big coastal city.

The assault lasted for two hours—directed not only at the airport but also at Germans on Dordrecht island.

In the attack on Dordrecht island alone, Van Kleffens said, more than 1,000 Dutch were lost but the German force was completely destroyed.

British Bombardment

The Dutch counter-assault at Rotterdam was launched at 8 A. M. (1:40 A. M. C. S. T.) in conjunction with a heavy British bombardment of Waalhaven airfield, on the left bank of the Nieuwe Maas, which bisects Rotterdam.

Had the Germans been able to consolidate their hold within Rotterdam they would have had a coastal base for assaults directly

Washington, May 11.—(AP)—American diplomats in the European war zone reported to the state department that German planes had bombed the Ford automobile plant in Antwerp (G5), neutral Switzerland and 18 towns in France.

The automobile plant was struck by three small bombs at 2:30 P. M., yesterday, without serious damage, a dispatch from Consul General Louis Susdorff, Jr., said. No Americans were hurt but four Belgian employees were wounded. Damage to the plant consisted mostly of broken glass.

Ambassador John Cudny reported from Brussels that from time to time yesterday, German planes flew over the Belgian capital and dropped many incendiary bombs without causing serious fires.

'Total War' Centers
in Netherlands:
News of Fight

(By The Associated Press)
Warfare in the German-invaded lowlands centered in the Netherlands today.

The nazis were reported to have been blasted from footholds in Rotterdam (JF) and The Hague (JF). A bombing attack on Amsterdam (L6) led to a death toll estimated at 20.

Dutch and Belgian defenses apparently held Adolf Hitler's legions at bay in border regions as defenders fought for time to enable allied troops to get into position and, in the case of the Netherlands, for flood waters to cut the country in half.

At the lower end of the 200-mile front from the North sea to the juncture of the French, Luxembourg and Belgian borders, French reported they had repulsed a large-scale German attack while their forces advanced against the Germans in Luxembourg.

The Netherlands foreign minister announced from London that all airdromes which the Germans had seized yesterday in their lightning attacks by land and air had been recaptured.

Germans Dispute Claims

Authorized Germans in Berlin, however, disputed this. They said their troops still held the airdromes both in the Netherlands and Belgium which they seized yesterday. They admitted however that fighting was going on there.

DNB, official German news agency, identified as a strong fort before Liege (F8), 25 miles within Belgium, the fort which the Germans announced yesterday they had captured.

Nearly 26 years ago the grey-clad legions of Kaiser Wilhelm in the drive on Paris beat at the forts of Liege for more than a week before they fell—precious times of vast importance to the allies.

In the new conflict, DNB boasted, "one of the strongest forts in the area before Liege proved completely defenseless against surprise attack by German planes."

Conflicting Claims

In the widely-conflicting claims of success against their rivals' air power, the Germans reported the greatest results—300 to 400 destroyed on the ground and 23 more in the air. The British said their fliers destroyed at least 50 German planes while some 20 British craft were missing.

Anti-British posters in Rome and an alleged attack on two British diplomats were marked by a protest by the British ambassador to Rome while students in Milan staged a pro-German demonstration. Premier Mussolini applauded a statement of displeasure over allied contraband control.

As the forces of western Europe surged over the historic battleground of the lowlands, Pope Pius XII expressed in messages to King Leopold, Queen Wilhelmina and Grand Duchess Charlotte a

Harmon Village Saloons Ordered to Close Sunday

The village of Harmon has joined the group of Lee county towns which will be dry on Sundays in the future. At a meeting of the village board Thursday evening an ordinance was passed closing all saloons from 11 o'clock Saturday night until 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Last week the village board of Sublette took similar action at a special meeting.

The action of the Sublette and Harmon officials leaves but two Sunday oases in Lee county, West Brooklyn and Compton, and it was rumored today that these two villages might soon join the others in Sunday closing. State's Attorney Edward Jones stated today that he welcomed the news of the village board's action at Harmon, following closely on the closing of Sublette saloons, and added:

"I have been informed that the villages of Compton and West Brooklyn plan to take similar action, which would make Lee county 100 per cent closed on Sundays. This would be welcome action as I can see no reason why saloons should remain open seven days a week any more than a grocery store or any other business."

Decorating Hints For Your Home

Dining Room in Swedish Motif
Borrowing decorative touches from Sweden a pleasant dining room combines pale grey walls touched with floral motifs with ceiling and woodwork painted soft cobalt blue. The floral motifs are done in the peasant manner, red and blue dominating. Cover the floor with a deep burgundy rug and use straight white curtains at the windows covered with light peach drapes. This background is ideal for Swedish modern furniture. Add white candles, dark red glasses and napkins for your table setting. Blue and white accessories will also harmonize pleasantly.

Dainty Bathroom in Pink and Blue

Rather feminine but not too overdone for masculine taste a bathroom with walls painted soft petal pink and bathtub or shower niche painted delphinium blue will dramatize a possibly drab room. Cover the floor with a deep marbled blue linoleum with white or coral feature stripe. Use a coral or white bath mat. A pink enameled clothes hamper and delphinium blue shower curtain completes the color harmony. The best color for the fixtures is white.

Pastel in 18th Century French Style

If you care to distinguish your living room furnished in 18th Century French style here's one way. Whites and off-whites shall dominate accented by tones of ice blue and dusty rose. Fabrics should be in the contemporary mode and the rug thick and shaggy in white. Another delightful scheme involves walls painted pink terra cotta, a carpet in green and painted linen draperies bearing a Chinese dragon design in soft reds and greens. Use black, green and gold accessories for final touches.

THE GARDENING GUIDE

Arranging Fresh Flowers Tastefully

There is not a room in the home that a colorful bowl of fresh flowers cannot help. Notice the word "bowl." Too many flowers prove just as bad as a few. No room, regardless of size, should contain more than two floral arrangements. These may differ, in type of flower, but should always carry out the general color scheme of the room. The actual arrangement of flowers is not difficult if one remembers that a few flowers prove just as effective as a dozen and a half.

When placing blooms in a shallow bowl, be sure and stay away from regularity. Make them high on one side, low on the other, being careful that the highest point is never more than twice the height of the container. In the case of long stemmed flowers, the stems should never rise more than one and one half times the height of the vase.

Remembering "spread" is one of the most important items in the business of floral arrangements. Never crowd flowers closely together. Let them spread out as they will. In this way they not only last longer, but appear much more graceful and natural.

OUTDOORS

Outdoors Trap for Sparrows

One manufacturer has made a device for ridding your home of sparrows. Working on the same principle of those wire rat traps, the birds are invited to feed over a trap door, which opens and drops them into a wire enclosure. It is much more humane than spreading poisoned grain where all birds may have access to it. Thus, if a wren or robin for example, get in the trap they may be freed without being harmed. The sparrows may be disposed of by taking them into the country or by other means.

Grass Needs Sweet Soil

Just as farmers need to rebuild their land with fertilizer, your lawn must be fertilized from time to time to replace plant elements used by growing grass. Lime and potash are the two elements that promote soil sweetness and contribute to good plant growth. Bare spots should be spaded and worked into a fine loam. Apply lime and potash ground finely to promote quick absorption by grass roots. Plant your seed evenly and if possible cover with burlap. Keep the burlap soaked with water and leave on until a good growth of roots has formed. If your lawn is very spotty it is advisable to re-spade it entirely, lime and apply potash as needed and moisten frequently until the roots have a good start. New soil may be added around tree roots, walks, and stony areas to give the grass roots a chance to grow profusely.

If You Want Low Hedges

Hedges, to be kept from growing too high, need to be trimmed very short at the tops from the very start. This will force them to fill out at the sides and will make the box-like appearance so often desired. True, hedges must be trimmed on the sides but this should be done sparingly and only where the growth spreads out. A ball of twine is invaluable when trimming your hedges as you may then stretch it along as a guide, enabling you to trim evenly.

The back part of the fireplace forms an interesting brick niche just large enough to back up the range. The cupboards are designed with toe room at the floor. The dining alcove occupies a small space off the kitchen with two large windows on each side.

The second floor contains a complete bathroom, convenient to both bedrooms. The smaller bedroom will house a small bed or built-in bunks, the other boasts good size and also a fireplace. Note floor plans at the right and also the basement plan showing arrangements for a large recreation room.

We helped 1200 families become farm owners last year

BY MEANS of the Opportunity Farms plan, more than 1200 families realized their dreams of owning their own farms, last year. They found it easy to buy sound, improved farms to the value of more than $11,000,000.

These are significant statistics. But even more significant is the fact that 1100 of these 1200 buyers were experienced farmers who know farms and farm values.

Farm buyers today can take advantage of the lowest prices in more than 30 years. You can buy an Opportunity Farm for a small down payment; your only payments thereafter are 6% a year on the balance. This 6% covers payments on both principal and interest.

If you've dreamed of owning your own farm, now is the time to do it. Your Opportunity Farms agent can show you how easily you can make this dream come true. Write or phone to...

GEORGE WASHINGTON SAID:

"Excessive partiality for one foreign nation and excessive dislike of another cause those whom they actuate to see danger only on one side, and serve to veil and even second the arts of influence on the veil. Real patriots who may resist the intrigues of the favorite are liable to become suspected and odious, while its tools and dupes usurp the applause and confidence of the people to surrender their interests." From the Farewell Address.

The Boys Are At It Again

Much of the talk about democracy being threatened by fascist efforts to make Britain disgorge some of her colonial loot reminds us of the blather spread around this country in 1918 by those who didn't know why we entered the World War.

Let us resurrect some of the statements made on the first Armistice Day by those who thought we went to war to make the world safe for democracy:

President Wilson: "Armed imperialism such as the men conceived who were but yesterday the masters of Germany is at an end, its illicit ambitions engulfed in black disaster."

Senator Harding of Ohio: "... the dawn of a new world ..."

Senator Swanson of Virginia: "From now on ... autocracy and military despotism will cease ..."

Senator Key Pittman: "From that (peace) conference will come the establishment of the principles that he (Wilson) has advocated and which will mean an enduring peace."

Senator France of Maryland: "We have forsaken forever the fleshpots of narrow sectionalism, of selfish, rampant and corrosive individualism, of national materialism ..."

Representative Harrison of Mississippi: "It (the armistice) is a second Declaration of Independence for the world, a Magna Charta for oppressed peoples of every clime."

Lloyd George: "It is the most wonderful victory for liberty in the history of the world."

King George: "... this greatest of democracy's achievements ... I thank you (President Wilson) and the people of the United States for the high and noble part which you have played in this glorious chapter of history and freedom."

Marshal Foch: "We have gained the greatest battle in history and saved the most sacred cause—the liberty of the world."

All of these speeches were very pretty, but they were music without meaning. The United States went to war because the Germans sank our ships, contrary to international law and the principle of freedom of the seas for peaceful commerce.

Beware of the idealists who chant in abstract terms about practical matters. If given an opportunity they will cost us billions in money and no one knows how many fine young lives.

Is This Appeasement?

We begin to have an inkling of the maneuvers being made to keep Italy out of the war when we read the announcement that the United States has removed countervailing duties against certain Italian exports to the United States, largely textiles.

A year ago the administration, in its intense dislike of the then anti-communist fascist states, began penalizing Italian textile imports on the ground that they were subsidized. Later the New Deal had to admit that it was guilty of subsidizing some exports to other countries while condemning that practice. Further, it was engaging in barter under the guise of national defense. Efforts to get an explanation of the practice of doing that which it condemned were fruitless so far as Mr. Roosevelt's New Deal was concerned. The king can do no wrong.

Now that Mussolini is in position to bargain with the democracies which have condemned him, the democracies are trying the old policy of appeasement. If Mr. Mussolini will stay out of the war and be a good boy we shall buy more Italian textiles, even though they still are subsidized and our own textile workers may suffer thereby. And presumably these subsidized goods will be permitted to pass unmolested through King George's Mediterranean sea and his majesty's Atlantic ocean.

Under this policy of appeasement, you will remember, Japan has made chop suey out of China; Italy has seized Ethiopia, and what Herr Adolf has done needs no review, being very fresh.

The question that now needs to be answered is this: Will appeasement subdue the realistic Mussolini any more successfully than it subdued Hitler? Yankee textile workers will be the goats if it doesn't.

What other concessions will be made to Mussolini so as to keep him in fine fettle against the day when he goes over to Adolf—if he does?

Convention Time

Convention season is about to begin.

Conventions are one of the institutions that mark American life off from life in almost any other country. Fraternal, commercial, political, religious, social, business and cultural institutions center around their annual conventions.

It's a good custom. It forms an annual check and audit for the organizations. It creates new friendships and associations, gets the country acquainted with itself, lessens sectionalism. And it is a big industry in itself, helping to spread money around.

The average convention guest stays 4.23 days in the host city. He spends $14.76 a day, according to the International Association of Convention Bureaus. And he has a whale of a good time, according to our own observation.

Hail, convention season! Welcome, convention guests!

News Behind THE NEWS

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc., reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington, May 11—Bad news always breeds bad news, and so it is with the allies.

The word is around that the Dutch and Belgians had become so fearful of incurring Hitler's displeasure they had lately refused to counsel with the British and French on a coordinated plan of defense if Hitler attacked. French military men went to Brussels a few days back and were told to go away before Hitler saw them.

This seems to have given Hitler the same advantage for an invasion of the Netherlands he had enjoyed over the allies everywhere so far.

Earlier inside arrangements between the French and Belgians called for the Belgian army to fall upon the northern marching columns of Germans thus opening the way for the French army to cross straight through and meet the southern German columns head on.

Values are changing fast in this war but no reports hitherto have questioned the superiority of the French army. Even in Germany, realistic authorities conceded it to be the best in the world. Now annoying suggestions have slipped out of Paris indicating the French are having some trouble internally. Undermining methods of treachery which Hitler exhibited in Norway are showing to some extent underneath the Maginot line.

Whether it will prove to be of any great consequence cannot be known until the French army gets the crucial test in the field. But you will recall the strength of the communist party in Paris before its "suppression" at the outset of the war. The new Hitler ally had 72 deputies in the chamber in 1936 and a following among the workers who are now in the trenches. French authorities are aware that German secret service has been working hard through the French fifth communist column.

The best of fortifications are no defense against this method of attack.

Discouraging failure of the British in Norway has been attributed to the absence of British aircraft but the whole story was not told to the House of Commons. Officially it has been explained the British were unable to secure landing fields, but no explanation has been offered as to why naval aircraft carriers were not brought in close to shore. Anchoring even 200 miles out they could have been effective in protecting British troops from the air machine gunning.

The answer is a woeful lack of coordination not only between the British land and naval air forces but between the British and French. Hitler's land and naval air arms are separately operated, but too concentration of power enables him to aim them at a single target while the allies are floundering around in divided authority.

Resignation of Hore-Belisha from the air ministry was really caused by his attempt to require unification over the objections of unit commanders.

It is common now to attribute deficiencies of the allies to their democratic form of government. Alibi explanations of the British ministers to parliament offer some credence to this confused theory. Some observing writers are even being led to examine the question of whether democracies can fight efficiently against coordinated dictatorial force.

No thinking authority here puts any faith in such superficialities. Britain's trouble is not with her form of government but with the efficiency of the men who are leading it. If Hitler had been in charge of Germany's preparedness the last five years and Chamberlain in charge of Germany's, the present military situation might have been reversed.

Dictatorial Russia has been trying to build an army longer than Hitler and has succeeded only in massing the largest and most inefficient of any major world power.

Chamberlain and his conservative ministers are warmly liked and greatly respected here. He has always been regarded as a superior British political leader by those in the local trade. No one in the field could come anywhere matching him on his feet facing political questioners in the House of Commons. But in the test of both peace and war requiring the aggressive efficient leadership of a realistic and imaginative mind, his deficiencies are equally recognizable with his parliamentary capability.

Unless the allies find the men for the job they have at hand, the current trend of affairs will not soon be reversed.

Says Horner Would Like University Trusteeship

Springfield, Ill., May 11—(AP)—The announcement of Oscar G. Mayer of Evanston that he would not seek another term as University of Illinois trustee was interpreted by administration sources today as opening the way for nomination of Governor Horner for one of the three vacancies.

Horner, although too ill to run for a third term as chief executive, would like to have his name on the November ballot as a candidate for U. of I. trustee, it was authoritatively reported.

The terms of three trustees, including Mayer, expire next year and nominations for the posts will be made at the Democratic and Republican state conventions in June. Others whose terms expire are Mrs. Glenn E. Plung of Chicago and Harold Pogue, Decatur. All are Democrats.

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940, NEA SERVICE, INC.

YESTERDAY: Pepper Boy loses the Derby Trial by inches in a photo finish. Sherry congratulates Grant, who tells her Pepper Boy would have won with a heavier rider. A strange man questions Sam about the colt, but Sherry is too busy worrying about money to give it much thought. She decides to borrow Ted's $700, she overhears Ted and Uncle Willie. Ted has bet and lost her $700!

CHAPTER XV

SHERRY flung open the tack-room door, looked inside. Willie Bond, his face haggard, his hands shaking, was backed against the room's side wall. An infuriated Ted was facing him, but a new Ted. Her hair stood out in a halo of brown curls, as if she'd just stepped from a beauty parlor.

"Well, this is a pretty kettle of fish!" Sherry said, stepping inside, looking at one, then the other.

"You," she spoke scornfully to the man, who now fumbled with his monocle, "you persuaded this ignorant girl—ignorant of the turf—to bet on one of your sure things."

"And you," she looked at Ted Duncan Bond, "with all your college learning and degrees, believed you could beat the races! The smartest horsemen admit it can't be done. Even I, the owner of Pepper Boy, wouldn't bet a dollar on him—and you bet $700. I overheard you."

"Oh, Sherry!" Ted began, but Sherry hadn't finished. "Glad you were cleaned out. Maybe you'll have sense enough not to try it again." She turned on her uncle.

"Now you, explain yourself! The idea of talking a gullible girl into betting. Suppose you were to get a cut on her winnings—in return for your marvelous dope!"

"Please, Sherry!" It was Ted herself who broke in, with a defense of the man.

"Well?" Sherry was thoroughly mad now.

"He didn't persuade me—at least, not much."

"How did it all start?" Sherry demanded.

"Willie and I had planned to write the story of the thoroughbred—she hesitated; Sherry prompted, "Go on."

"touted you, persuaded you to bet on a horse of his choice—" "But it was Pepper Boy!" Uncle William put in, coming up for air. "Shut up!" Sherry snapped. "Guess you were going to get a cut of the winnings—" "Sherry!" Ted flung her arms around Sherry, stayed her. "What on earth?" Sherry demanded, freeing herself. "You mustn't say such things about him!"

"Well, I like that! And why not, may I ask?" "Because—because—" William Bond stepped forward with great dignity, spoke clearly: "Sherry, Theodosia has honored me by—ah—becoming my fiancée."

UTTER silence for one long moment. Then Sherry Bond sank down on a locker trunk. "For the love of Pete," she ejaculated. Then she began to laugh, almost hysterically. At last she controlled herself, stood up.

"That's swell! Now listen, you two: you've both helped me out. You saved my horse for me. Willie, when I ran him in that claimer. You loaned me your car, Ted."

"That was nothing!" the pair exclaimed in unison.

"Yes, it was, and I don't forget favors," Sherry said. "Now I promise you this—in appreciation, and as a wedding present: 10 per cent of the purse if Pepper Boy wins the Derby. Now scam—both of you. I've got figuring to do."

SHERRY BOND hadn't been alone 10 minutes when Sam appeared at the opened door of the tack-room. "Miss Sherry, that oily-talking man's back ag'in', an' askin' for you."

The man came in, his hairless skull gleaming like a yellowed billiard ball; his coat cut like an hour glass under his arms; knife-edged crease in his trousers, spats over his ankles. His thick brown lips barely moved as he talked in the lowest of tones.

"Miss Bond, there'll be about 20 entries in the Derby this year. Your Pepper Boy has one chance out of 20."

"Well, what of it?" Definitely, she did not like his looks. From a pocket he drew forth a wallet. Counted out a sheaf of bills rapidly, put a rubber band around them, and laid them on top of a locker trunk.

"There's $5000—and it's yours, now, if you give me your word you won't start Pepper Boy in the Derby."

Instantly Sherry was on her feet. "You take up that money—at once!" she commanded, trying to control the anger that was rising in her.

"There's nothing illegal in what I'm asking, Miss Bond," his voice came now in a sullen purr. "I represent a group of future book gamblers."

"You take bets on the Derby nominees in advance of the race, giving longer odds than on race day, and if a horse doesn't start

TERRYMEN RUIN HOMECOMING FOR BROOKLYN'S FANS

Delirious Dodgers Drop Game to Giants on Return From Road

YESTERDAY'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)
Harry Gumbert, Giants—His five hit hurling performance was good enough to whip Dodgers 7-2. Mace Brown, Pirates—Hurled five hit ball as Pirates broke nine game losing streak, with 8-3 win over Chicago.
Jack Wilson, Red Sox—Stopped Yankee rally in the seventh and pitched scoreless ball the rest of the way to win 3-2 in 10 innings.
Bob Johnson, Athletics—Drove in five runs with homer, double and two singles to pace A's 8-7 win over Washington.
Buck Newson, Tigers—Pitched Detroit to its first shutout of the season by scattering seven hits to beat White Sox, 3-0.
Lou Boudreau, Indians—His two hits drove in three runs as Indians beat Browns 9-4.

By BILL WHITE
Associated Press Sports Writer
If you think the looks the Republicans are giving the Democrats are black, you ought to hear what the Burghers of the borough of Brooklyn are planning to do to Bill Terry after what happened yesterday.

The reason is that the New York Giants blasted a Brooklyn homecoming that was the biggest thing to hit town since Babe Phelps came in the first time. Thousands had gathered to cheer their champions home from a fine western trip and more thousands were on hand hoping for a fourth straight victory over the Giants. And then the Terrys won the game, 7-2, behind the five-hit hurling of Harry Gumbert.

That was the first time in four tries that the Giants had downed the delirious Dodgers and it left the Brooks only a half-game ahead of the idle Cincinnati Reds in the National league pennant chase. Gumbert allowed two runs and two hits in the first frame, but after that he tightened.

Yanks Lose Seventh
There were dark doings in another borough too. For the proud Yankees lost their seventh straight, this one to the Boston Red Sox, 3-2, in a 10-inning affair. Three errors, mixed with six solid hits, turned the trick and gave the Yanks the longest losing streak they've ever suffered under Manager Joe McCarthy.

Jack Wilson's fine relief hurling highlighted the Boston victory.

The Pittsburgh Pirates finally regained the combination and made off with their first victory in 10 tries. Five-hit hurling by Mace Brown and a five-run attack on Bill Lee and Charley Root in the sixth gave the Bucs an 8-3 win over the Chicago Cubs.

Another pitching performance that merited attention was the one Big Lou (Buck) Newson of the Detroit Tigers unleashed at the Chicago White Sox. He scattered seven hits to give the Tigers their first shutout of the season, 3-0.

The Philadelphia Athletics turned the business of beating the Washington Senators over to Bob Johnson, their hard-hitting outfielder, and he obliged with his fifth homer of the season, a double and two singles, all of which accounted for five of the A's runs in their 8-7 win.

The Cleveland Indians won their third in a row the hard way—by spotting St. Louis four runs and then beating them, 9-4. The victory kept the Tribe a game and a half back of the Boston Red Sox, American league pace-setters.

Four National league teams had a day off.

BIMELECH HELD FAVORITE TODAY FOR PREAKNESS

Nine Thoroughbreds to Fight It Out Late This Afternoon

By MASON BRUNSON
Baltimore, May 11.—(AP)—The racing faithful descended upon Baltimore by the thousands today to see nine good thoroughbreds fight it out for gold and glory in the 50th running of the historic Preakness Stakes marking its golden jubilee.

Interest in this running of Maryland's most famous race was keyed to such a pitch that officials of the Maryland Jockey Club looked for a crowd of 40,000 or more. Cloudy weather was forecast.

The track was expected to be fast.

Luring the followers of the thoroughbreds to Pimlico was the prospect of another slam-bang battle between Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Kentucky Derby winner Gallahadion and Col. E. R. Bradley's Bimelech the runner-up. Big Bim was an 8-5 favorite despite his Derby defeat.

Post Time 3:55 P. M.
Post time was 3:55 P. M. (CST). For Gallahadion the race provided an opportunity to show whether his Derby victory was just a bit of racing luck or whether he really deserves to rank along with the great equine immortals.

For Bimelech, it was a chance to avenge the licking he took from Gallahadion and to regain the high place he held at the top of the three-year-old division before he went down to the first defeat of his career.

Although interest centered mostly on the Bimelech-Gallahadion rivalry there was plenty of talent in the rest of the field and it was entirely possible that some outsider would come forth to beat them both.

The others entered were Sun Pharos, Dit, Andy K. Pictor, Mioland, Royal Man and Your Chance.

At stake in this race—provided all nine started—was a $73,365 pot of gold, with the winner due to receive $52,000 or $53,000.

New Regulations Make More Youths Eligible to N. Y. A.

Although no additional youths are being placed on the part-time payrolls of the National Youth Administration in Illinois at this time new Washington interpretations of regulations will make certification available shortly to many youths heretofore ineligible, according to an announcement made by Mary Stuart Anderson, state NYA administrator, in Chicago.

The regulations apply to the NYA work training program in which young men and girls between the ages of 18 and 25 years are employed part-time on projects servicing communities. The program provides work experience to youth to enhance their employability in offices, plants, factories and elsewhere.

"Under the new regulations, eligibility is determined by family size, size of the community and amount of annual income", explained Miss Anderson. "The minimum family income levels have been raised to allow certifications of many young people now eligible, but at the same time it should be explained that we are not increasing our payrolls at the present."

"We have greatly reduced our payroll in Illinois by the current job hunt and it is possible that new certifications will be made in the future."

Work projects in communities are being based primarily of construction of tangible public facilities and the production of useful articles make these services most valuable to the communities. Administrator Anderson declared.

Lee county youths who are interested in NYA work are asked to call at the NYA office, City Hall, Dixon, Monday May 13, 1940, at 8:30.

Two photographs were necessary to show A. J. (Whitey) Abel's Honey Cloud, No. 6 in the center, winner by a spectacular nose over H. C. Hatch's Filisteo, on the rail, in the $25,000 Dixie Handicap at Pimlico. While the photo angle appears to give the South American Filisteo a margin, the son of High Cloud held a slight lead throughout the mile and three-sixteenths. W. L. Brann's Aethelwold, No. 7 on the outside, was third. Henri Mora is astride the winner.

Danning Shoves Leiber from Top in National Loop

New York, May 11.—(AP)—The change that sent chunky Taft Wright from sultry Washington to breezy Chicago seems to have been just what the doctor ordered.

The hefty left-handed slugger, who hit well but not often for the Senators last year, has stepped into a regular's berth on the White Sox machine—and his batting average shows how happy he is about it all. Currently he's the best in the majors, with a .405 average.

Nobody else in either league can top that one—but old Harry (The Horse) Danning tried his best during the week. He wasn't even among the first ten a week ago, and today the Giant catcher heads the National League with a .403 average.

Closest to Danning is Hank Leiber of the Cubs who has banged out 29 hits for a .382 average. He is followed by Joe Moore, of the Giants with .370. Moore to Wright in the American League is Frankie Hayes of the A's who has 22 hits in 58 tries for a .379, and then comes Lou Finney of the Red Sox with a .373. The ten leaders in each league:

DeKalb Teachers Heavy Favorites at Elmhurst

Elmhurst, Ill., May 11.—(AP)—Northern Illinois Teachers were heavy favorites to retain their title today in the seventh annual running of the Elmhurst relays against a field of 21 other schools.

The Teachers, paced by Bob Terwilliger, dash star, have won five dual meets. Terwilliger will be defending his own record mark of 10 seconds flat in the 100-yard dash and also will go after a blue ribbon in the 220-yard dash.

Northern took first honors a year ago with 70 9-10 points. Loyola of Chicago was second with only 26 points.

This year's field, in addition to Northern and Loyola, includes North Central, Illinois Normal, Milwaukee Teachers, Whitewater, Wis., Teachers, Bradley Tech, Carroll and Illinois Wesleyan.

Hawkeyes' Mound Star Tastes First Defeat of Season

Chicago, May 11.—(AP)—Harold Haub ace pitcher of Iowa's pace-setting Big Ten baseball team, is out for revenge today.

Haub who failed to last two innings against Northwestern's slugging nine yesterday, was scheduled to take the mound again today in an effort to protect the Hawkeyes' front-running position in the conference race.

The Iowa mound star had not lost a Big Ten game in two years until the Wildcats raked him for five runs, including Bill De Correvont's three-run homer, in the first inning yesterday. Northwestern knocked him out of the box in the second and went on to win easily 13 to 5.

The Wildcats collected a total of 13 hits off four Iowa hurlers. De Correvont leading the attack with is homer, a triple and two singles.

Fred Roach was slated to oppose Haub in the second game.

In Front Half a Game

The defeat left Iowa a half game ahead of Northwestern and Illinois which took a marathon scoring contest from Purdue, 21 to 13. Bill Hapac led a 17-hit assault with a home run, two triples and a single as the Illini scored 16 runs before Purdue crossed home plate once.

Michigan moved into fourth place with a 4 to 1 triumph over Ohio State. Stan Sova pitched Minnesota to its first league victory in three games, giving Wisconsin only five hits in a 7-0 decision.

Captain Dale Gentil was the central figure in Indiana's 3 to 1 conquest over Chicago, yielding only four hits. An error, a walk and two hits produced the Hoosiers' winning runs in the eighth inning.

The same teams met again today in a full schedule of five games.

"Are We Down-hearted?"

It seems that it takes more than Britain's recent war reverses to dim the spirits of her troops, especially World War veterans who are serving again. In close harmony, above, are members of the Auxiliary Military Pioneer Corps, pictured at their English training center. The Corps is composed of men between 30 and 50 years old, many of whom fought in the World War.

Defenders Claim—

Germany before French troops made contact for battle.

Switzerland—Anxious over their neutrality, the Swiss put through complete mobilization.

Italy—Some fascists cheered for a German victory in the low countries but Italy still remained on the sidelines apparently waiting to see which side would win before jumping into the fray.

The United States—Germany's invasion of the low countries was condemned by President Roosevelt, who froze American-held financial resources of the invaded nations to prevent German acquisition.

Japan—The Japanese government announced it had notified all powers concerned that Japan would insist on maintenance of the status quo in the Netherlands East Indies in spite of Holland's involvement in the European war.

All the world watched the swiftly-developing conflict which presaged the greatest blood-letting of the war. Still stalemated on the concrete-and-steel frontier between Germany and France, the war seemed destined to run its bitter course on the lowlands soil which for centuries has been a European battlefield.

Initial reports, mainly from the Belgians and Dutch, indicated the German blitzkrieg had not succeeded the way it did in Poland, conquered last September. This time allied military might was being thrown directly into the conflict and the tried German device of dropping parachutists behind the lines was said to have been checked.

In addition far greater air power was being pitted against the Germans than they met in Poland or in their swift sweep through Norway.

However, there was little doubt that the full force of Nazi military might has not yet spoken. In the balance hung mastery of Europe.

Auditor Barrett Opens Fight for Place on Ballot

Bloomington, Ill., May 11.—(A P)—State Auditor Edward J. Barrett opened his fight in Circuit Court yesterday to obtain a recount of votes in six counties in the April Democratic primary.

Attorneys for Barrett and Congressman John C. Martin of Salem, who won the Democratic nomination for auditor, argued for three hours before Judge William C. Radcliff and then were instructed to file written arguments by Monday. Judge Radcliff continued the case until Wednesday.

The auditor, who lost the nomination by 17,815 votes, alleged he was deprived of 31,500 ballots in the primary.

Counsel for Martin, including Arthur Sullivan, newly-elected state Democratic chairman, and Bruce Campbell of Belleville, contended Barrett's petition was not verified properly because he had not sworn positively that the alleged irregularities were true.

The auditor's chief counsel, Emmett McCarty of Chicago, said it was sufficient to swear the charges were true to the "best information and belief," and cited court decisions on election contests.

It was agreed by both sides that if the verification were considered insufficient, it would be too late to amend the petition.

For the woman who sews, a splendid gift would be a sewing habit made of sturdy felt, so designed that all necessary tools ordinarily used in sewing can be kept right at hand. There is a pin cushion fashioned into the habit, and plenty of convenient pockets just the right size for thimble, pencil, chalk, scissors, rule and tape measure.

New York Worlds' Fair Dedicated to Peace and Freedom

New York, May 11.—(AP)—New York's $160,000,000 World's Fair of 1940, refurbished with tons of bright paint and dedicated to "peace and freedom", opened under balmier skies today in a carnival atmosphere that was in marked contrast to last year's pomp and ceremony.

All the preliminary arrangements were aimed at emphasizing the theme "lots of fun for little money", and Gov. Herbert H. Lehman and Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and other dignitaries who participated in opening ceremonies were asked to leave their top hats at home.

Airplanes droned overhead, penants waved and aerial rockets thundered a welcome as the first arrivals clicked through the turnstiles.

In the foreign zone there were exhibits of 50 nations, including the five invaded countries of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Finland, Denmark and Norway, and those of several nations now at war.

Conspicuously absent this year was the towering statue of a workman bearing the red star of Russia. The soviet withdrew from the exposition last winter and removed its exhibit. Germany has shown no interest in the fair.

To keep vacuum bottles sweet, they must be kept absolutely clean and aired. After containing milk or beverages made with milk, fill with warm water to which a pinch of baking soda has been added. If there is the slightest odor, a few drops of ammonia in the water should remove it. Use new corks frequently. When not in use, do not cork tightly—simply cover loosely with the metal cap to keep it clean but aired.

Methodist Church Scene of Mothers-Daughters' Social

In the midst of a beautiful garden setting of flowers, birds, shrubbery, garden wall, bird bath and garden seat, 180 women and girls enjoyed the annual Mother-Daughter banquet at the First Methodist church Thursday evening. Preceding the dinner Mrs. Elwyna Hill gave a short organ recital in the auditorium while the guests were gathering. Dinner music was furnished by Miss Virginia Jane Lund, local harpist. Mrs. Crawford Thomas led the group in singing mother-daughter songs with Mrs. B. L. Jacobson at the piano.

The colorful evening gowns worn by the Treble Clef choir girls and others who participated in the program, the profusion of spring flowers furnished by Mrs. C. R. Walgreen of Hazelwood, the dainty candy baskets and varied colored programs and song sheets, gave an unusual festive atmosphere to the garden theme of the evening.

Mrs. Floyd Blewfield, wife of the pastor, who presided as garden hostess, spoke of various kinds of gardens and gave a beautiful word picture of an old fashioned garden of her childhood. Mrs. Archie Brown, attired in a picturesque costume representing the long ago, sang sweetly "In An Old Fashioned Garden".

Unique garden tributes were given by Anita Hopkins, representing a bud in the flower garden; Mary Jane Hardy, representing a pansy; Lila Lee Kirk, representing a tulip; and Marjorie Lou Blewfield, representing a rose.

The Treble Clef choir, under the direction of Miss Marie Worley and accompanied by William Worley, rendered two selections, "A Tiny Seed" and "A Wish".

Mrs. Blewfield, in presenting Mrs. Jo Van Meter, who gave a tribute to the daughters, spoke of the mothers as gardeners who earnestly strive to instill Christian ideals into the minds of their daughters. She mentioned the missionary gardens which are cultivated through the endeavors of Christian women and girls among unfortunate people in our land and countries across the seas.

The beautiful and inspiring program was concluded as Mrs. Blewfield quoted from the words of the hymn "The Beautiful Garden of Prayer" and the Treble Clef choir girls, with harp accompaniment, sang softly the refrain.

Men of the church served the dinner. Mrs. A. N. Boyd, general chairman, Mrs. John Wadsworth, in charge of the dinner, and their co-workers, were highly praised for the success of this most delightful affair.

Grandmother's shawls, in silk and wool lace, tapestry fabrics and luxurious silks, have furnished inspiration for a spring style which is headline-making news. Smart designers are creating; smart stores are showing; and smart women will be wearing shawls. Giant squares of silk in plain colors and in stunning prints, in lace and in gossamer sheer wools are chic over suits and day dresses as well as evening gowns. And the majority are fringe-trimmed, just as grandmother's were.

Library Notes
The school library has been used to better advantage this year than during the last several years. About 75 new books were added, including both fiction and non-fiction. The withdrawals varied from 40 to 60 books at all times which means that from half to two-thirds of the students were getting some value from the library. Attractive book folder displays, the addition of a new book rack which kept the new books ever before the student, both were helpful in encouraging more reading. The library is meant to be a useful tool in the educational process and because of that, special care was used in choosing those books which would be an aid to the largest number of students, covering all study fields.

The state inspector's report particularly commended the work done in the library stating that it was now in good working condition, and encouraging a continuation of the fine work already accomplished.
